IDEAS AND INSIGHTS FROM YOUR NATURAL GAS SERVICE PROVIDER

It's National Safe Digging Month

DO YOU KNOW WHO TO CALL?

Spring is here, and you may be eager to start those outdoor projects you've been putting off all winter. But before you grab your shovel, there's an important call you need to make: 811. It's a free call that can keep you and your neighborhood safe.

There is a vast network of pipelines, telecommunication cables and electrical wires buried underground, and if you accidentally hit one of them when digging, you could interrupt services that thousands of people depend on – and put yourself in danger as well.

Accidental damage to underground facilities can be prevented. One phone call to 811 from wherever you are will route your call to "Call Okie," the Oklahoma One Call System, which will alert owners of pipelines, telecommunication cables and power lines to mark their buried assets within 48 hours of the request. There's no charge to you for this service.

Whether you're planting a tree, tilling soil, installing a deck or sprinkler system or setting fence posts, state law requires calling 811 at least 48 hours before you plan to dig to allow all utility line locations to be marked.

It's easy to do. So during National Safe Digging Month, and any time of year, be safe – call 811 before you dig. For more information, visit the safety section of our website at www.oklahomanaturalgas.com.
