IDEAS AND INSIGHTS FROM YOUR NATURAL GAS SERVICE PROVIDER

811: Three Numbers to Keep You Safe

April is National Safe Digging Month and the perfect time to refresh your knowledge about safe digging practices. Do you know how to prevent damage to underground utility lines? It's easy, you just have to remember three numbers: 811. It's a free call that can keep you and your neighbors safe.

There is a vast network of pipelines, telecommunication cables and electrical wires buried underground, and if you accidentally hit one of them when digging, you could interrupt services that thousands of people depend on – and put yourself in danger as well.

Accidental damage to underground facilities can be prevented. One phone call to 811 from wherever you are will route your call to “Call Okie,” the Oklahoma One Call System, which will alert owners of pipelines, telecommunication cables and power lines to mark their buried assets within two business days of the request. There's no charge to you for this service.

Whether you're planting a tree, tilling soil, installing a deck or sprinkler system or setting fence posts, always remember to call 811 at least two full business days before you plan to dig to allow all utility line locations to be marked.

It's easy to do. So during National Safe Digging Month, and any time of year, be safe – call 811 before you dig. For more information about digging safety, visit the safety section of our website at www.oklahomanaturalgas.com.
